One shots of Jax except it's him doing bunny behaviors

by CodieBronco

Summary

What the title says

Notes

Thanks for clicking on this lol.

Chapter 1

This is going to be a story about you guessed it, Jax. Also, none of this is going to be going off of actual canon, maybe except for a couple things here and there, but I really just wanted to write about Jax being Jax except accurate to how rabbits/bunnies are.

Also, all of these facts I will write about are actually real, so, I guess this could be counted as kind of educational.

Rabbit Purr

Chapter Summary

Exactly what it sounds like

Chapter Notes

See the end of the chapter for notes

(Fact: Rabbits actually purr, they grind their teeth together softly, it sounds nothing like a cat's purr, but it is technically still purring)

Jax sat on top of the bed in his room, reading a book and listening to soft music in the background, the soft purring becoming more apparent as the music died down a tad as the song ended, he flipped the page as the music fully stopped, only for the next song to start soon after.

Jax turned the page yet again, reading slowly, enjoying one of the only days off he had within the month.

A sudden knock at the door caught his attention and he jumped, pausing for a moment before putting a bookmark on the page he left it on and placing it on his nightstand. After they, he made his way to the door, not bothering to turn off the music as it was quieting down anyway.

Jax opened the door to be greeted with Ragatha standing at the door, her hand about to knock again but stopping as the door was answered.

"..heya, dollface..whaddya want..?" Jax said, leaning against the doorframe, his eyes fixated on her. Ragatha gulped, a bit nervous for many reasons. Reasons I myself do not know.

"Well.. Bubble cooked again.. they made dinner, you weren't there.. so I brought you some back! Just a.. friendly gesture.." She said, holding up what looked to be a takeout box, she waited until Jax's hand was held out to take it before actually handing it to him.

She chuckled nervously as Jax began poking around in the food. "Well.. I know you don't exactly eat meat.. so I decided to get you all vegetarian options.." Jax nodded in response and began closing the door, but Ragatha put her arms out in protest, she wanted to be closer with him, as friends do.

"Wait! Can I.. sit with you..? ..i-its fine if you don't want to.. there's just nobody else out right now, they're all doing something with their free time and all-"

"Yeah, yeah...sure Raggs.. just don't make too much noise, alright.. I wanna be able to hear my radio.." Jax said, opening up the door more for her to make her way in, shutting the door softly as they both were now inside the room, placing the takeout box on the floor and sitting down, he opened the box of food back up, as well as picking up the plastic fork snuggled next to a couple pieces of carrots.

Ragatha sat down on the floor next to Jax, watching him eat before she began gazing around the room while listening to the music that softly played in the background.

Her thoughts were slightly cut off by hearing a soft clicking sound, not loud, but loud enough, almost like grinding but different.

Ragatha looked over to Jax, seeing him wide eyed and eating the bit of salad in the box, then she noticed the noise was coming from him.

She stayed silent for a moment, just watching him purr softly between bites. Once Jax was finished, she saw him stand up slowly, stretch about them throw the box, now empty, in the trash. Ragatha chuckled, catching Jax off guard.

Jax huffed, turning around and facing Ragatha. "Alright.. you can go n-"

"Did you just purr~?" Ragatha said, standing up, stars in her eyes.

Jax blushed in embarrassment, he didn't exactly like showing off his rabbit behaviors, but it's not like he can hide it, pulling his ears over the front of his face, now embarrassed as hell, he muttered a soft "..get out.."

But she didn't, she just stood there, practically gleaming with joy, as she always enjoyed watching Jax's bunny behaviors.

"Awww.. but you're so cute..! How could I just leave you when you're feeling content like this..?" She protested, obviously just wanted to mess with Jax.

With a huff and a couple quick stomps, he grabbed Ragatha's arm and quickly shuffled her out of the door..

Jax, now blushing shut the door as soon as Ragatha's body was out of his room with a loud:

"GOODNIGHT!"

(Not long, but I didn't really have any other ideas for purring, but oh buddy, there are longer chapters to come)

Chapter End Notes

Thanks for reading this short chapter :]

Hay is an important food for rabbits

Chapter Notes

See the end of the chapter for notes

(Fun fact: hay is actually 80% of a rabbit's diet, and carrots are actually considered sugary and junk food for rabbits)

In the kitchen, Jax was leaning on the counter, nibbling on a carrot as he saw Ragatha walk in once he had eaten at least half of the carrot.

She walked up to him and snatched the carrot out of his paws.

“Sooo.. I read an article today..!” Jax tilted his head in confusion as she said this, tapping his foot a bit in annoyance, but just stared down at her.

“It says that rabbits can't eat more than one carrot a day because they are too sugary for their bodies to use as a stable diet.. and what have I seen for the past couple days?” She said, throwing the carrot in the trashcan next to them, Jax now officially annoyed, slammed his foot down on the floor, angry that she threw his snack away.

Ragatha rolled her eye and grabbed Jax's arm and began dragging him with her to the exit of the tent, along the way, Jax was protesting, he was trying to push back from Ragatha's strong grip on his arm, to no avail though, so he just opted for being dragged.

“Sooooo... we are going to the shop in the grounds! Getting what the article said was good for rabbits to eat as a meal..” Ragatha said, pushing Jax onto the outside of the tent, passing a very confused Zooble on the way.

Ragatha opened the door to the shop, pushing Jax inside despite his protests because she didn't want her friend eating junk, even if it didn't matter to their digital bodies in the end.

Jax huffed, his arm now free so he just brushed himself off a bit, looking at the arm Ragatha grabbed and shook it off, he didn't exactly like being touched without knowing he was going to be touched in the first place.

Ragatha made her way to the counter where a glitchy store owner stood, obviously just ai, not at all like one of the humans.

Jax just stared off into space, waiting for Ragatha to finish requesting anything from the store owner.

He didn't even notice her coming back over to him until she was waving her hand in his face.

“Oh- uh.. hey.. whatcha get..?” He asked, nose twitching in curiosity, which Ragatha thought was pretty cute.

Ragatha rolled her eye again playfully before shoving the bag of hay into Jax's arms. "Hay.. the article said it was good for bunnies to have! It said it was roughly 80% of their recommended diet..and because I'm such a good friend... I'm not letting you eat junk food that often anymore.."

Jax looked down at the bag of hay in his arms, which was weird because hat normally came in bales in the human world, but what was he to judge, if it came in a bag, it came in a bag.

Ragatha yet again, grabbed Jax's arm and began dragging him to the tent again, which Jax didn't mind because he ended up just walking next to her, which made her let go of him, he would have to wash that arm later.

Ragatha opened the door to the tent, closing it once Jax walked through the door and following him back to the kitchen, leaning against the counter and watching as Jax opened the bag of hay and took out a big handful, and begining to eat it, though he didn't seem fazed, almost as if it only tasted like a salad or something.

Ragatha looked down at the bag of hay. "...so.. what does it taste like..?"

Jax looked up at Ragatha. "What do you think it tastes like..? ..it tastes like hay! What else..?" Jax said, leaning on the counter next to Ragatha and chewing the hay slowly, swallowing every couple of minutes, it seemed it took him a tad longer to grind down the hay.

Ragatha chuckled. "...well obviously it tastes like hay.. it's sopposed to.. I was just wondering if you noticed something different, that's all.." She placed her hand on Jax's right arm, trying to be comforting.

That made Jax feel weird, not in a necessarily bad way, but just.. odd to him.

He continued chewing on the hat anyway, not caring if Ragatha was touching him anymore or not.

(So: to avoid any confusion, I kinda headcanon that Jax doesn't like being touched randomly, I think he would only enjoy touching or being touched by someone he trusts, because actual rabbits also do that most of the time, because rabbits are primarily prey animals, they don't like surprises too often.)

Thanks for reading :D

Rabbits thump their feet when annoyed and can get very territorial about their toys and objects

Chapter Notes

See the end of the chapter for notes

(Fun fact: rabbits thump their hind legs on the ground when they are annoyed with people, also rabbits hate it when people mess with their environment, they prefer their belongings to be left alone, they don't like it when anyone takes their things and can become very territorial)

Caine was currently floating in front of the crew, rambling on about how today's activity was going to go.

Jax was just listening to this go down, not really caring what they were going to do, he just wanted to go back to his room and sleep under his weighted blanket.

Jax was relaxed.. until he heard Caine say something about 'gloinks' which reminded him of the day Pomni got here, and the gloinks rearranged everything, some of them even got into Jax's room.

An audible stomping sound was heard before Caine could even summon the gloinks.

Jax huffed, having to be the one stomp in anger. " H*** NO! I AIN'T LETTIN' THOSE 'THINGS' WRECK MY ROOM AGAIN!" Jax stomped again, this time, he was slightly shaking with anger, he hated when anyone messed with anything in his room.

Caine scratched the top of his 'head' in confusion as everyone stared at the angry purple rabbit.

Jax huffed, his nose started twitching again, and this time, it was clear he was very not happy about the gloinks roaming around.

Caine threw his cane to the side, the object spinning slightly in place, but not falling to the floor. "But Jax! This is for the audience! They are sure to love-" Another loud stomp sounded, and of course, it was Jax.

"I said no! I don't wanna do this stupid game.. I don't want them messing with my stu-"

Jax's eyes widened as Caine grabbed both of his rabbit ears in one hand. "Oh no, don't be silly Jax..!" Caine stared down at Jax. "They might not even go into your room.. or they might.. who knows~!"

Jax huffed as his ears were dropped and he stomped again, not having it, but Caine paid no mind to him this time.

Caine just kept explaining a bit further about the rules, but they already all knew these dumb rules. Caine snapped his fingers and gloinks began appearing at random, taking things they touched with them.

Jax huffed, turned on his heel and began making his way back to his room, loud footsteps sounding as he finally made it up to his room, opening the door only to see half of his stuff missing already, and through the doorway, a gloink bounced out, it had his stuff glitching through it.

Jax groaned and began chasing after the weird glitchy shape, jumping every now and then to try to catch it, but he was too late, the gloinks had jumped down the gloinks hole and disappeared.

Jax huffed, now feeling sad that his stuff has been stolen, he slowly made his way to his room, with every footsteps though, it was a loud stomp.

Jax reopened his room door and shut it behind himself, he flipped on the bed, pulling his flimsy blanket over himself, as the gloink stole his weighted one, and he started rubbing his ears, laying on his stomach, his face in his crappy and warm pillow. (Ew it's warm)

Jax huffed, only gazing up as a knock at the door sounded lightly. Jax growled slightly but sighed. “..come in..whoever you are..”

Ragatha opened the door to see the sad sight in front of her, she stepped in and closed the door, sitting on the edge of Jax's bed, looking around the room she sighed and patted Jax's arm, wanting to comfort him.

“So.. why did you..have a whole freak out back there..? What's wrong, buddy..?” Ragatha smiled softly, wanting to comfort him the best she could.

Jax flinched a bit, not expecting for her to touch him, but he didn't jerk back or anything, he was too exhausted and mad to do anything about it.

Ragatha hummed softly, rubbing Jax's arm comfortingly. “..I'm sorry.. that today just.. wasn't your day..” She said, standing up and handing Jax something from her arm, she had kept it away from his veins when she entered.

Jax slowly looked up at her and sighed, kicking his feet slightly in annoyance that he needed to move before seeing what she had on her arms.

“..I know how much you loved the stuffie that was under your bed.. and I'm so sorry that the gloinks trashed your room.. so.. I made you another one..” Ragatha said, handing Jax the stuffed animal that resembled a blue rabbit.

“..how..how did you make it so fast..?” Jax asked, his nose twitching slightly as he looked down at the stuffie in his arms.

“..Jax.. you of all people should know that I'm a really fast knitter..you know I'm always making gifts for people..”

Jax smiled slightly, laying back down on the bed and hugging his new stuffie.

“..thanks, dollface..”

(So another explanation is that I headcanon Ragatha to be a fast knitter and good dollmaker because of her form as a doll in the digital world, maybe in her human life she did something similar that would explain why they look the way they do in the digital world)

Chapter End Notes

It's not that long or anything, I don't think any of the chapters will be all that long, but I'm trying so thanks for reading :]

Rabbits can hear very amplified sounds, because their ears are made in a way to hear up to several football fields away

Chapter Summary

Jax never gets any rest..

Chapter Notes

See the end of the chapter for notes

Jax was almost impossible to sneak up on, he always heard everything within a couple yards away, some of the cast thought it must be cool, and a different part thought it must be annoying..

But to Jax, it was fucking hell, always having to hear the others talk about stuff, that frankly, he didn't want to hear half the damn time..

Jax groaned and flipped over in his bed, seemingly and obviously annoyed with hearing Caine rant to Bubble about what would be happening the next day..

Jax hissed silently as he heard a door open and close before quiet footsteps could be heard heading to his room..

"..the !#@\$.." Jax perked his ears up and shifted his gaze to the door, seeing someone just stop on the other side and two gentle knocks were heard..

Jax swung the door open, and was met to a distressed looking Pomni..

".. whaddya want, kid..?" Pomni looked up at Jax before quickly shoving a box of something into his paws and waving slightly before bolting off..

Jax stared as she ran down the hallway and back to her own room..

"..weirdo.." Jax mumbled and stepped into the room and shut his door, not wanting to be loud and annoy himself with it..

He hummed quietly and placed the box on his desk before opening it, inside there was a note that read:

'Hi Jax, it's Pomni. Just wanted to give you this as Caine let me use the void's wifi to look this up! Apparently..Rabbits have really sensitive hearing..?! So, I asked Gangle to make this out of some spare art supplies she had. Hope you enjoy! (Pls don't kill me, thx ^^'

Jax reached in and pulled out two soft clay-like objects, they were small, and painted a purplish-blue color, just like Jax's fur..

Jax walked into the main area, wearing his newly made buds, they definitely weren't perfect, he could still hear things, but they definitely helped, at least a little bit..

Jax lowered his ears as he walked by Pomni and Gangle, who were talking, before they looked at him and both grinned..

Jax scoffed and reached over before shoving Gangle, making her mask fall off and break yet again..

Pomni only frowned, now attempting to help Gangle back up off the ground..

"..serves you bothe right.." Jax puffed out hir fur before walking off, his normal grin on his face, but Pomni and Gangle would both notice his little tail wag, as well as the small blush plastered on his face, and of course, the purplish-blue colored buds still in his huge floppy ears..

Chapter End Notes

I know it's not all that long, but I'm stressing over finals and stuff, so please do forgive me ^^

I also got a new cat today, so that's interesting!
